

AIRPACK, INC ANNOUNCES ONLINE DANGEROUS GOODS RECURRENT TRAINING PROGRAM

Oct 16,
2006

AIRPACK, INC. ANNOUNCES ONLINE DANGEROUS GOODS RECURRENT TRAINING PROGRAM

(Glen Burnie, MD – Airpack, Inc.) Effective October, 16, 2006, Airpack, Inc., a dangerous goods training, packaging & consulting company headquartered in suburban Baltimore, MD, launches a web-based, online dangerous goods training program. Serving clients Domestically & Internationally, Airpack's training division- John Gerrish & Associates, LLC has been training companies for over 15 years.

According to Airpack's Sales Manager, Manny Vazquez, "We're very excited about being able to expand our training program to include online dangerous goods training." "Our online training program has helped us gain some ground in providing compliance solutions for our clients." "Combined with our public and privatized training programs, we can now offer our clients a way to recertify their people without having to pull them away from their operation." "Online training was the next logical step in our long term plan to position ourselves as a major player in the hazmat training industry," added Mr. Vazquez.

Airpack, Inc. is one of a handful of companies nationally that offer a "hat trick" of combined services. They offer dangerous goods packaging, training, and consulting. Airpack's instructors are IATA Certified and considered industry experts. For more information about the new training program go to www.airpack.com

Airpack employs over 20 employees and operates in two Eastern Cities (Glen Burnie, MD & Charlotte, NC).

FOR MORE INFORMATION: Contact: Barbara Gerrish.
Phone: 410-768-8155 Fax: 410-768-6603
-E-mail: info@airpack.com

